Society does not generally expect its farmers to be visionaries.. Perhaps not, but longtime Maine farmer and homesteader Will Bonsall does possess a unique clarity of vision that extends all the way from the finer points of soil fertility and seed saving to exploring how we can transform civilization and make our world a better, more resilient

place. In Will Bonsall's Essential Guide to Radical, Self-Reliant
Gardening, Bonsall
maintains that to achieve real wealth
we first need to understand the
economy of the land,
to realize that things
that might make sense economically

don't always make sense ecologically,
and vice versa. The marketplace distorts
our values, and our modern dependence
on petroleum in particular presents a serious barrier to creating a truly
sustainable agriculture. For him the solution is, first and foremost, greater self-reliance, especially in the areas of food and energy.

By avoiding any off-farm inputs (fertilizers, minerals, and animal manures), Bonsall has learned how to practice a purely veganic, or plant-based, agriculture—not from a strictly moralistic or

philosophical perspective, but because it makes
good business sense:
spend less instead of making more. What this means in practical terms is that Bonsall draws upon the
fertility of on-farm
plant materials:
compost, green
manures, perennial
grasses, and forest

Products like leaves and ramial wood chips. And he grows and harvests a diversity of crops from both cultivated and perennial plants: vegetables, grains, pulses, oilseeds, fruits and nuts—even uncommon but useful permaculture plants like groundnut (Apios). In a friendly, almost conversational way, Bonsall imparts a wealth of knowledge drawn from his more than forty years of farming experience. .My goal,. he writes, .is not to feed the world, but to feed myself and let others feed themselves. If we all did that, it might be a good beginning..
