Quelque chose qui passe dans ce qui se passe... Un passant, malgré les impasses, s'en rend compte... Le passant devient passeur, parfois malgré lui, et laisse passer ce qui passe en et à travers lui... Vigilant et zélé, le passeur se dépasse dans ce qui se passe... On ne cesse d'entendre ce chuchotement, ce tressaillement intérieur, parfois tel un cri, à travers la passe des chapitres. Ceux-ci essayent de témoigner diversement d'une expérience spirituelle personnelle. L'ouvrage développe une théologie plurielle du passage. Une phénoménologie de la vigilance et du zèle s'en dégage au fur et à mesure de ce qui se passe.

Luigi Epicoco's best selling book now in English. Fr Luigi Maria Epicoco accompanies the reader on a real rethinking of the potential of Christian Life.

Italy's most popular Catholic priest-author translated into English for the first time. Common do-good-ism is all around, but Fr. Fabio Rosini says, we no longer know what mercy is - and mercy is more essential than ever before. We confuse mercy with generic compassion, forgiveness, or acceptance. But mercy is something completely different. It is an act, a work, a knowledge, a care, the fruit of a relationship with other people. It springs up not from humans but from one's relationship with God. It is therefore a work of God, and not of ourselves. Fr. Fabio helps readers understand that we cannot live without mercy, because the deepest happiness in life is to care for others. And Pope Francis has shown by first-hand example - often upsetting his more conservative detractors - that showing God's mercy is the most essential quality of every follower of Christ, even a Pope.

A profound yet very readable portrayal of Mary.

Jimmy the little bunny doesn't start off knowing how to ride a two-wheeler bike like his big brothers. In fact, sometimes he gets teased for it. When Dad shows Jimmy how not to be afraid to try something new, that's when the fun begins.

Augustine, the man with upturned eye, with pen in the left hand, and a burning heart in the right (as he is usually represented), is a philosophical and theological genius of the first order, towering like a pyramid above his age, and looking down commandingly upon succeeding centuries. He had a mind uncommonly fertile and deep, bold and soaring; and with it, what is better, a heart full of Christian love and humility. He stands of right by the side of the greatest philosophers of antiquity and of modern times. We meet him alike on the broad highways and the narrow footpaths, on the giddy Alpine heights and in the awful depths of speculation, wherever philosophical thinkers before him or after him have trod. As a theologian he is facile princeps, at least surpassed by no church father, schoolman, or reformer. With royal munificence he scattered ideas in passing, which have set in mighty motion other lands and later times. He combined the creative power of Tertullian with the churchly spirit of Cyprian, the speculative intellect of the Greek church with the practical tact of the Latin. He was a Christian philosopher and a philosophical theologian to the full.
